Smoke testing in Kununurra no cause for concern

Water Corporation will carry out smoke testing in the wastewater system in Kununurra as part of work to improve protection from stormwater intrusion during the wet season. The testing will take place from Tuesday, 19 December to Friday, 22 December and involves putting liquid white smoke into the wastewater system through access chambers (manholes). The smoke will travel through pipes and if it escapes, will show where stormwater can get in to the system. In some instances, smoke may come through your home's overflow relief gully, located in your back yard. This smoke is completely harmless and no cause for concern.

If you have any concerns during the smoke tests please contact us on 13 13 75.

If you suspect smoke is coming from an actual fire, always call the Fire Brigade on 000.

Residents can help protect their homes from the impacts of stormwater inundating the wastewater system by ensuring their overflow relief gully is clear of obstructions. For more information about how to maintain your overflow relief gully, visit watercorporation.com.au
