Scientific Inquiry into Hydraulic Fracture Stimulation in Western Australia

Call for submissions

On 5 September 2017, the Western Australian Government taboed a ban on hydraulic fracturing (fracking) in the Perth Metropolitan, Peel and South West regions, and a moratorium over the rest of the State. An independent scientific inquiry is being undertaken to assess and report on the potential for hydraulic fracture stimulation in Western Australia, outside of the Perth metropolitan, Peel and South West regions.

The scope

The inquiry is being conducted by a Panel established by the Minister for Environment under section 25 of the Environmental Protection Act 1986 (EPA Act).

This Panel will have to report to Government on suitable scientific and appropriate regulation.

Submissions to the inquiry

This is a scientific inquiry and the Panel will consider perspectives, concerns and projections of onshore hydraulic fracture stimulation in Western Australia, within the scope of the Terms of Reference, as well as technical evidence that would inform their consideration. We ask stakeholders and the wider public to assist the inquiry to ensure the Panel has:

- A full and appropriate understanding of the environmental values potentially at risk from unconventional oil and gas developments involving hydraulic fracture stimulation;
- Any data or other evidence that might inform a scientific risk analysis of those impacts, with an emphasis on local geographies and geologies; and
- Any concerns or experience on what a regulatory framework should look like if the Government lifts the current moratorium.

We want to hear from you

Submissions to the inquiry can be made in the following ways:

- online by clicking on the "Have your say" tab at www.frackinginquiry.wa.gov.au
- via Email to inquiry@frackinginquiry.wa.gov.au
