Appendix 2 shows the non-statutory advertisements described above.

The Commission, in conjunction with the Department of Local Government and Communities, undertook a paid creative advertising campaign primarily focussing on the internet and social media. The campaign was created to encourage more and a greater diversity of people to nominate as candidates, as well as to increase public awareness of local government elections in general. Banner advertisements were placed on a number of popular commercial news websites and both paid and organic placements were posted to various Facebook sites, and to a lesser degree on Twitter.

The campaign consisted of three phases - enrolment and the roll close; standing as a candidate and nominations close; voting and the election date. Depending on the phase, there was a particular focus on women, the culturally and linguistically diverse, youth, people who had recently moved house and young professionals. The campaign used the tag lines "lets vote", "take a stand" and "voting matters".

The campaign also included some specialist press advertising and the trial of outdoor and retail venue advertising posters in selected locations.

COMMISSION WEBSITE

The Shire of Wyndham-East Kimberley had a visual presence on the Commission's website at www.elections.wa.gov.au in terms of logo, address and link to its home page. People visiting the Commission's website could view a broad range of electoral information, including:
